

A Pirate's Prayer of Thanks

Please prepare yourself for prayer as is your custom

I come to you with humble thanks for all that you've delivered.

I thank you for a glassy sea and the steady blowing breeze, For giving all these things to me without making me say please.

And I thank you for the horizon where sea and sky do meet, For every new sun that I watch risin' is a day of fate I'll cheat.

And when I navigate at night you send the northern star, I feel then that I'm alright and it's to you that I'll say ARRR.

For I am grateful for the gifts that you have granted me, A pirate ship that is so swift and the blue green open sea.
